Task: Survey the text you are about to read. Enter the subtitles in the chain of events and ideas column below. Before reading, create predictions about what the text will tell you. While you read, circle the icon that identifies how right your prediction was. After you read, create questions on the text that you could study from.

Highest Standard: The predictions may not necessarily be correct, but they must be specific, relevant, and probable. Questions created on the text should cover all of the material to be learned.
