

Name _____

Brief Written Argument Task 6-8

Topic Item:

5		4	3		2
100	94	85	76	65	55	44
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supports claims strongly with sufficient logical reasoning and relevant evidence (At least two supports). Demonstrates a strong command of the topic Explains an opposing claim (without refuting). Maintains an organized, formal and cohesive writing style. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supports claims adequately with sufficient logical reasoning and relevant evidence. Demonstrates an adequate command of the topic. Explains an opposing claim (without refuting). Maintains an organized, formal and cohesive writing style. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Claims are only minimally supported. There are errors in logical reasoning and/or evidentiary basis for claims. May have inadequate command of the topic. Missing opposing claim. The writing style may be inconsistently formal or not cohesive. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reasoning is very weak, supporting evidence is barely relevant or persuasive. Inadequate command of the topic. Problems with organization, cohesion, level of formality.

No credit for tasks scoring below 2. 5-point scale applied to match NYS Essay rubrics. Task not intended to be complete persuasive essay — it is a brief written task focusing on some elements of argumentation. Customarily written without notes to be worth full credit. Typically 300-400 words in length.

Name _____

Brief Written Argument Task 6-8

Topic Item:

5		4	3		2
100	94	85	76	65	55	44
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supports claims strongly with sufficient logical reasoning and relevant evidence (At least two supports). Demonstrates a strong command of the topic Explains an opposing claim (without refuting). Maintains an organized, formal and cohesive writing style. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supports claims adequately with sufficient logical reasoning and relevant evidence. Demonstrates an adequate command of the topic. Explains an opposing claim (without refuting). Maintains an organized, formal and cohesive writing style. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Claims are only minimally supported. There are errors in logical reasoning and/or evidentiary basis for claims. May have inadequate command of the topic. Missing opposing claim. The writing style may be inconsistently formal or not cohesive. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reasoning is very weak, supporting evidence is barely relevant or persuasive. Inadequate command of the topic. Problems with organization, cohesion, level of formality.

No credit for tasks scoring below 2. 5-point scale applied to match NYS Essay rubrics. Task not intended to be complete persuasive essay — it is a brief written task focusing on some elements of argumentation. Customarily written without notes to be worth full credit. Typically 300-400 words in length.

